A NOTE FROM THE CST PRESIDENT:

To CST friends,

I am truly looking forward to what this new season will bring to CST and to our community. We have a great new season of shows in store and certainly looking forward to bringing our shows back to our beloved Paramount Theatre. It's been a difficult time these past few years, but we have continued to do our best to entertain our supportive patrons.

We will be working diligently to revitalizing our organization and hopefully bringing more interest and involvement to our group. We are always seeking new talent, new experiences, new members, and new patrons who enjoy live theatre. It had been our passion for many years now to continue finding ways to grow our organization and bring quality entertainment to our area.

As we enter our 45th season, we will strive to do our best to make improvements as we partake in the thing that brings those of us with CST the greatest joy; making people smile, laugh, cry, think, imagine the impossible, and share in our creativity.

We hope that you will continue to support us and share with your friends and loved ones the excitement that can be found in the theatre.

Please feel free to join us in our endeavors so that we can continue on for many more years to come. Thank you allowing us to be a part of your lives and this community.

See you at the theatre,

Sandra Evans

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Ann Marshall

Though rarely in the spotlight, Ann Marshall has been a part of Center Stage for several years. She remembers her first time working with the group several years ago during A Christmas Carol where she ran the spotlight while her daughter, Rain was a Cratchett child. "I think I had as much fun as she did," Ann says. She has been on stage in several shows, the first of which being Two-Eyed Titus. She fondly remembers singing with Debbie McLendon on stage.

Ann says that her favorite show was It's a Wonderful Life, where she was able to be on stage and also handle props. She also really enjoyed her part as a woman who sold flowers in A Christmas Carol.

Though she has been involved in several shows on stage and off, her favorite thing to do is organize props and help backstage.

Sill, Ann would like to send a heart-felt thanks to Rain Merritt for being the reason she is involved in theatre, Debbie McLendon, for singing with her that first time, and Christie Mayo and Cathy Woods for encouraging her to continue.

JUNE MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

Our next meeting is Monday, July 11 at 7 p.m.

- At the next meeting, our executive board will present a budget for the 2022-2023 season.
- The bylaws will be revised this year. Audra is doing research into the process and has volunteered to present the updated document.
- Brooke Shenk and Sandra are working together to incorporate a youth liaison to work with the board. The prospective teen should be between the ages of 16 and 18, and have their own transportation, or a parent willing to drive them to meetings. We are hoping that this will help the youth in our organization feel more involved.

Join our next meeting for more information!

STAY "IN THE KNOW":

BOOK REVIEW:

IF WE WERE VILLAINS

THEMES:
THEATRE,
SHAKESPEARE,
MURDER
MYSTERY,
WHO-DONE-IT,
LGBTQ-FRIENDLY

If you're looking for a good read that has several twists, then I definitely recommend this book!

The plot follows the story of a group of Shakespeare theatre students, and the reader is able to witness how the theatrical roles themselves influence the behaviors and motives of the characters.

Oh, and did I mention that this is a murder mystery? Yeah, buckle your seat belts, because this story will have you questioning literally everybody involved.

BROOKE M. SHENK, EDITOR

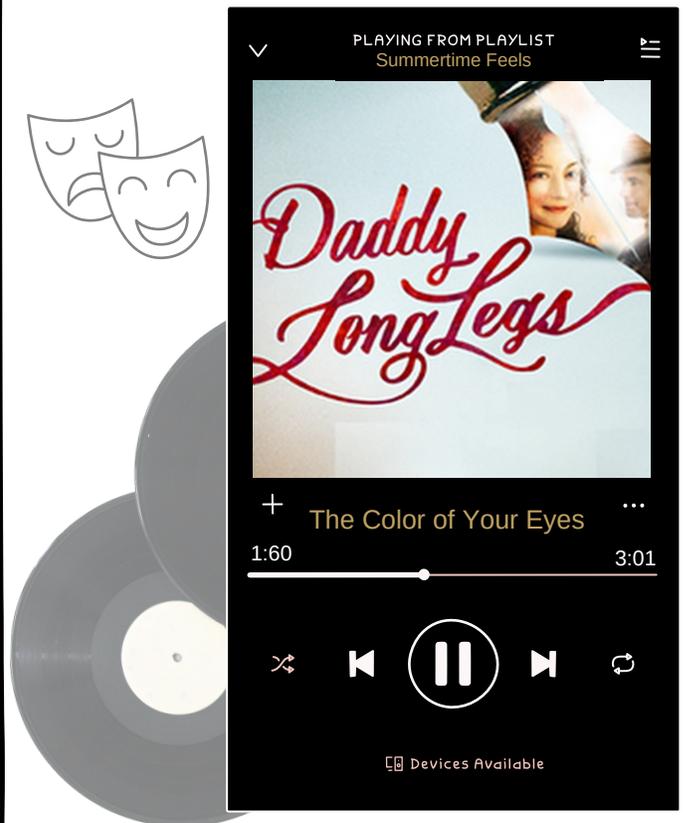

ACTING ADVICE:

Tom Hanks tries to always have a "soul connection" to the characters that he plays. "That has to be there," he says. "If I have no connection with the character, then it's all fake - it's just blah, blah, blah."

-O (The Oprah Magazine): Sept 2001
